Foundations

The foundation has helped big, big students, folks like Marcus Hampton, 26. "You may still worry about what they are going to do," said Darlene Melby, director and executive director of the Oxnard College Foundation. "But they have graduated and are now working in the community."

Marcus Hampton has received scholarships from the Oxnard College Foundation. He has graduated and is now working in the community.

Scholarships to Keep Student on Track

Moorpark College Foundation

Moorpark College’s foundation has helped students such as Marcus Hampton, 26, who wanted to teach, but received four scholarships from the Oxnard College Foundation. Hampton has since graduated and is now working in the community.

Moorpark College’s foundation has helped students such as Marcus Hampton, 26, who wanted to teach, but received four scholarships from the Oxnard College Foundation. Hampton has since graduated and is now working in the community.

Oxnard College Foundation

Oxnard College’s foundation has helped students such as Marcus Hampton, 26, who wanted to teach, but received four scholarships from the Oxnard College Foundation. Hampton has since graduated and is now working in the community.

Oxnard College’s foundation has helped students such as Marcus Hampton, 26, who wanted to teach, but received four scholarships from the Oxnard College Foundation. Hampton has since graduated and is now working in the community.

Ventura College Foundation

Ventura College’s foundation has helped students such as Marcus Hampton, 26, who wanted to teach, but received four scholarships from the Oxnard College Foundation. Hampton has since graduated and is now working in the community.

Ventura College’s foundation has helped students such as Marcus Hampton, 26, who wanted to teach, but received four scholarships from the Oxnard College Foundation. Hampton has since graduated and is now working in the community.

CSU Channel Islands Foundation

CSU Channel Islands’s foundation has helped students such as Marcus Hampton, 26, who wanted to teach, but received four scholarships from the Oxnard College Foundation. Hampton has since graduated and is now working in the community.

CSU Channel Islands’s foundation has helped students such as Marcus Hampton, 26, who wanted to teach, but received four scholarships from the Oxnard College Foundation. Hampton has since graduated and is now working in the community.