The Online Education Initiative is currently providing pilot colleges with various services, including free online tutoring using NetTutor, Basic skills embedded support using open education resources, and Quest for Online Success, a readiness for online learning program. Join us in this workshop to learn how to integrate these services into your online course. This will be a hands-on workshop. Bring your laptop or use one from the Training Studio. Come prepared to work and have fun.

The session begins with a group discussion about how online faculty can identify when students are having difficulties and intervene before it is too late. You will then be taken on a tour of online service, along with suggested instructional strategies for using these resources throughout the semester. Then, we will work together to embed these support modules directly into your online courses and assignments.

*Any faculty/staff who give information to students via technology

*Any faculty/staff that requires students to access information via technology

*Any faculty who teach online/hybrid classes

Accessibility on Campus and in the Classroom: The EAC (Educational Assistance Center) has presenter Gaier Dietrich discussing equal access on campus and in the classroom in regards accommodations (504) and accessibility (508). Instructors need to know that all instructional materials (PDF's, PowerPoints, podcasts, videos) need to be accessible, including all online information! Any information available to students must be in an accessible format. Please join us for lunch and conversation regarding this very important matter. Ensuring access must be an institutional commitment where accessibility is part of the standard workflow at Ventura College.

Gaeir Dietrich is the director of the High Tech Center Training Unit (HTCTU) of the California community colleges, and the system wide trainer for Section 508 compliance. Gaeir has served on the advisory boards for AHEAD, Bookshare, DIAGRAM Center, the Alternate Text Production Center (ATPC), and the Silicon Valley Independent Living Center (SVILC). In 2010-2011, she served as the chair for the national Advisory Commission on Accessible Instructional Materials (AIM) in Postsecondary Education. She is also a contributing author to Beyond the Americans with Disabilities Act, published by NASPA. Guthrie Hall
