

CREATING A RUBRIC

The screenshot shows the 'Rubrics' page in the Desire2Learn system. At the top, there is a navigation bar with 'My Home' and 'Kali Woods Practice S...'. Below this is the 'Desire2Learn' logo and a secondary navigation bar with 'Course Home', 'Edit Course', and 'Assignments'. A callout box with a red border and text points to a 'New Rubric' button. The main content area is titled 'Rubrics' and includes a search bar and a table of existing rubrics. The table has columns for Name, Description, Type, Scoring Method, and Status. Two rubrics are listed: 'Discussion Rubric' and 'Rubric for Written Work', both with an 'Analytic' type and 'Points' scoring method, and a 'Published' status. The page also features a 'Help' link and a 'per page' dropdown menu.

In "Edit Course," click "Rubrics." Then click "New Rubric."

RUBRIC TYPES

Analytic: The most common kind of rubric, it breaks performance into multiple criteria. Each criteria is assessed separately, resulting in an overall assessment score.

Holistic: This type does not break performance into separate criteria. Performance is assessed holistically, so that you consider several different criteria, but make only one overall assessment.

The screenshot shows a web interface for creating a rubric. At the top, there is a navigation bar with "My Home" and "Kali Woods Practice S...". Below this, a "Criterion Name" field contains "Criterion 1". A callout box points to this field with the text "Change the name of the criterion." Below the name field is a section titled "Description and Feedback" with a sub-header "Description and Feedback". A note below this section reads: "Descriptions for each performance level can be added to outline the requirements that must be met for this criterion. Optional feedback can be added for each of the levels." Below the note is a table with columns for "Level", "Score", "Description", and "Feedback". The table has two rows: "Level 4" with "4 points" and "Level 3" with "3 points". Each row has a "Description" and "Feedback" column, each containing a rich text editor with a "Paragr" dropdown menu. A callout box points to the "Description" field of Level 4 with the text "Enter a description for each of the levels in the criterion." Another callout box points to the "Feedback" field of Level 4 with the text "Enter feedback. Participants are able to view the feedback once their assignment has been assessed using the rubric." At the bottom of the form are "Save" and "Cancel" buttons.

Change the name of the criterion.

Enter a description for each of the levels in the criterion.

Enter feedback. Participants are able to view the feedback once their assignment has been assessed using the rubric.

-Note on changing the score for each level of criterion- This option is only available if "Custom Points" was selected as the scoring method when the rubric was created.
