Library Bill of Rights

American Library Association Intellectual Freedom Statements

The American Library Association affirms that all libraries are forums for information and ideas, and that the following basic policies should guide their services.

- I. Books and other Library resources should be provided for the interest, information, and enlightenment of all people of the community the Library serves. Materials should not be excluded because of the origin, background, or views of those contributing to their creation.
- II. Libraries should provide materials and information presenting all points of view on current and historical issues. Materials should not be proscribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.
- III. Libraries should challenge censorship in the fulfillment of their responsibility to provide information and enlightenment.
- IV. Libraries should cooperate with all persons and groups concerned with resisting abridgment of free expression and free access to ideas.
- V. A person's right to use a Library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, or views.
- VI. Libraries which make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use.

Adopted June 19, 1939. Amended October 14, 1944; June 18, 1948; February 2, 1961; June 27, 1967; and January 23, 1980; inclusion of "age" reaffirmed January 23, 1996, by the ALA Council.

Fines and Fees

The loss of Library borrowing privileges will occur until all overdue, lost, or damaged items are returned and fines/fees are paid in full. Students will have an administrative hold placed in their student account until all obligations have been cleared. All lost book fees must be paid at the circulation desk. Lost item replacement fees also include a nominal processing fee.

Overdue Notice Process

Overdue notices are issued via email as a courtesy to all Library users. However, non-receipt of an overdue notice does not exempt a borrower from applicable fines or billings. To avoid overdue notices and fines, materials should be returned by the due date.

The first overdue notice is issued on the 1st day following the due date. The second overdue notice is issued on the 7th day following the due date. After 30 days, a final notice will be issued resulting in an administrative hold being placed in the student's account for the cost of the book(s) and the processing fee(s). This action will result the withholding of the student's registration and transcripts.

Confidentiality of Patron Information

The Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library recognize the following:

- That all records identifying the names, student identification numbers, and Library card numbers of Library patrons are confidential in nature.
- That such records are not to be revealed to anyone other than the patron in question without either the express written permission of the patron in question or the adherence to proper legal procedures regarding required access to such information.

The policy is based on the following:

- The Council of the American Library Association strongly recommends that the responsible officers of each Library formally adopt a policy with regard to confidentiality of Library patron records.
- The American Library Association Policy Manual 54.15—Code of Ethics, point 3, states,
 "Librarians must protect each user's right to privacy with respect to information sought to received, and to materials consulted, borrowed or acquired."
- The Family Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, prevents schools from distributing a student's education records to third parties without the student's consent.

Collection Development

Circulating Books and Textbooks

The primary objective of the Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library is to develop a collection and systems of access to resources that will support the curriculum and research needs of its primary audience — the students, faculty and staff of Ventura College. Therefore, the collection development policy of the Library focuses on acquiring and providing access to materials that are relevant to the instructional and research programs of the college. The Library relies upon its own faculty and staff and the classroom faculty for purchase recommendations. All Library users, regardless of status, are invited to make purchase recommendations. The major factors that influence the acquisition decision are:

- Relevance to the educational programs of the College
- Balance in the collection
- Professional reviews

Databases

- Librarians will review, test, and select the databases that will best serve the college community as a whole.
- Databases will be reviewed annually and evaluated for retention as determined by their usage, efficacy, depth of titles/title duplication, and cost per search. If/when cost per search exceeds $1.00, then the database will be considered for non-renewal.
- The Library strives to select databases that provide accessible content. Each database provider has a different level of accessibility or options to access accessible content. Library users that have any difficulty accessing materials through any library databases can contact a librarian for assistance.

Periodicals

- New periodical titles will be added based on need and availability of funds.
- Periodicals subscriptions will be reviewed annually, prior to renewal dates. Renewals will be made based on need and budgetary constraints.
- Only one title may be maintained either in hard copy or in electronic format.
- Periodical hardcopies will be kept for five (5) years in hard copy format.
- Faculty in appropriate departments will be advised in the spring, when a hard copy subscription is being considered for cancellation and informed of its location in a subscription database.

Intellectual Freedom

It is the responsibility of the Librarians and other selectors to insure that all points of view relevant to the college mission are represented in the collection. The Library endorses the American Library Association Library Bill of Rights, and the principles of that document are an integral part of this policy statement.

Patrons with a complaint about an item in the collection should be referred to a Librarian, who will ask them to submit their concerns in writing. A committee of two librarians and two discipline appropriate faculty members will review the complaint and the materials in question, and make a recommendation the Library Committee to retain or withdraw the item. The complainant will receive a written response.

Weeding

Books

An up-to-date and useful reference and circulating collection is maintained through a continual withdrawal and replacement process. Replacement of worn volumes is dependent upon current demand, usefulness, more recent acquisitions, and availability of newer editions. This ongoing process of weeding is the responsibility of the librarians, however, faculty is often asked to review specialized areas. Withdrawn materials will be handled in a similar manner and under the same authority as donated materials.

Textbooks

Currently used textbooks for classes offered at Ventura College are maintained in our Reserve collection and Lending Library collection. Library staff reserves the right to move any textbook in either collection, or any textbook donated to the Library to the Friends of the Library book sale.

Periodicals

The Library only accepts periodical donations from current faculty at Ventura College. Periodicals hardcopies shall be weeded yearly to remove items no longer useful to the collection, to maintain the current collection and to save shelf space.

Reference Services

Library Faculty:

- Will provide information answers to specific questions and guidance in locating material for patrons.
- Will assist patrons in the use of the Library and teach basic research methodology, when appropriate, this includes providing help in developing a research strategy.
- Will provide bibliographic verification of items both in the Library and not owned by the Library.
- Will assist patrons in obtaining materials through Interlibrary loan, when appropriate.

The Library offers orientation tours, given by librarians, to acquaint faculty and students with the use of basic research materials and with the physical arrangement of the Library. Any faculty assigning speeches, reports or other papers are encouraged to use this service.

- Library orientations are to be scheduled with a reference librarian. Arrangements should be made at least three school days before the day of the orientation.
- Prior to the scheduled orientation, the instructor and the librarian will discuss the specific needs of the class assignment and any specific resources the instructor wishes emphasized. The librarian will be given a copy of the class assignment that will involve Library research.

Interlibrary Loan Policy

Interlibrary Loan is a service provided by the Library to the students and faculty of Ventura College. This service is provided when the material requested is not owned by the Library or another VCCCD college. Delivery time for Interlibrary Loan requests is usually a minimum of two (2) weeks. Patrons are required to pay any charges or fees incurred by the Library for borrowed inter-Library loan materials. Please contact the reference librarian to make use of this service.

Process

- The Inter-Library loan request form will be completed by a reference librarian in consultation with the patron. The reference librarian will discuss the fees or charges with the patron.
- The citation for requested material should be provided by the patron and will be verified by the librarian.

- When requested material is received, the patron will be notified. If the material cannot be obtained within the time specified on the loan form, the patron will be notified.
- The Library will return the requested material if the patron fails to pick up the material within three (3) days of notification.
- Material will be checked out for a period that is determined by the loaning Library.

Courtesy

The mission of the Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library is to serve the faculty, staff and students of the Ventura County Community College District as a reliable source for education, research, information, continuing education and fulfilling intellectual curiosity and promoting student retention through an effective Library program.

It should be noted that the students are welcome to use the Library as a place to study. All educational and reference activities have priority over the privilege to use the Library as a place to study. Expectations of all library users include, but are not limited to:

- Respect library staff, directions, signage, materials, and property.

- No cell phone conversations in the Library. All cell phones must be on silent mode at all times in the Library. All noisy and lengthy conversations must be conducted outside of the LRC building.

- Step 2: A written warning that will inform the patron that any further violations will result in the removal of all Library privileges.
- Step 3: A written notice of removal of all library privileges for a length of time to be determined by the division dean/campus police.

For student misconduct or disruptive behavior, the library additionally follows BICT reporting and the Student Code of Conduct violation procedures.

Computer and Internet Use

All Ventura College Students regardless of age are allowed access to Library stations subject to the following rules and the Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library Computer Use Guidelines.

- Non-academic use of the computers is secondary to academic research and use.
- Save all information to a USB drive, Google drive, or email files to self, as all files will be deleted automatically when the computer restarts.
- Headphones must be used when listening to audio.

All Ventura College community card holders may access the computers for a maximum of three (3) hours per day with no time renewals. Community members will be assigned to a designated community member computer station by circulation desk staff; no special computer requests. Community members will be subject to removal if no other computers are available and a Ventura College Student needs to do academic research.

Accessible computer stations are for Ventura College students with disabilities, verified by the Educational Assistance Center counselors.

All Ventura College community card holders between the ages of 16 - 18 must have a signed parent permission slip on file each semester to use the computers. These patrons will have to follow the same rules and qualifications as a Community Member to have access to the Library computers.

All library patrons under the age of 16 will not be permitted to use the computers for any reason.

Please review the following Computer Use Guidelines (refer to appendix), any violation may result in disciplinary measures.

Children in the Library

The Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library's primary focus is to support the academic endeavors of our students and faculty. Recognizing that patrons may find the need to bring their children with them while conducting research and/or studying, the Library has created a small children's area including appropriately sized furniture and a book collection for young children. The Librarians and Library staff welcome parents with children to make use of this area. Parents/guardians are encouraged to exercise responsibility for insuring appropriate behavior of their children while in the Library. Disruptive behavior, including but not limited to shouting, running, pushing, or climbing on furniture, is disturbing to students and staff using the Library. If the child behaves in a disruptive manner, the parents and their child/children will be asked to quietly leave in this instance to assure we maintain an environment conductive to learning. Children under the age of 16 may not use Library computers, even with a parent's permission, as computer stations are reserved primarily for student use. Please note that all community member computer users must have their own Library card.

Children under the age of 12 years old may not be left unattended anywhere in the Library including areas designated for children. An adult must accompany him/her at all times. If it is found that a child has been left unattended the Library staff will follow the guidelines below:

Library staff cannot assume responsibility for the safety and well-being of any child in the absence of a parent/guardian.

- Library staff will make every effort to contact the parent either by phone or by sending someone to his/her classroom.
- Library staff will contact campus police if the parent cannot be located.
- Library staff will remain with the child until the parent or police arrive.
- Library staff will not move the child to another location even when requested by parent.
- Library staff will review the "Children's Use of the VC Library" guidelines with the parent upon their return.

These guidelines apply to all students, faculty, and staff and community members who use the VC Library.

Public Relations

The librarians and staff of the Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library will make every effort to assure that faculty, students, and patrons are made aware of Library hours, services, policies and events. This includes the up-to-date maintenance of:

- Web access to the Library Catalog and Databases
- Bookmarks and Student Information Sheets
- Library Handbook
- College Catalog

Volunteers

Individuals and groups are encouraged to volunteer their time and efforts in the service of the Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library. All volunteers must follow VCCCD procedures...

Friends of the Library

The Friends of the Library is designed to benefit the Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library. Funds raised by the Friends of the Library support library programs, services, and resources.

Gifts and Donations

The Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library encourages and appreciates gifts and donations. The Library accepts gifts of books, current textbooks and other materials with the understanding that they will be added to the collection only if appropriate and needed. All donated materials become the property of the VC library. If donated materials are not needed because of duplication, condition, or dated information, at the discretion of library staff, saleable materials will be directed to the Friends of the Library Book Sale. The same criteria of selection that are applied to purchased materials are applied to gifts as well.

Monetary donations are accepted through the Ventura College Foundation.

The Library does not appraise the value of donated materials. The Ventura College Foundation will acknowledge receipt of donated materials.

Appendix

Policy Concerning Confidentiality of Personally Identifiable Information About Library Users

The ethical responsibilities of librarians, as well as statutes in most states and the District of Columbia, protect the privacy of Library users. Confidentiality extends to "information sought or received, and materials consulted, borrowed or acquired," and includes database search records, reference interviews, circulation records, inter-Library loan records and other personally identifiable uses of Library materials, facilities, or services. The First Amendment's guarantee of freedom of speech and of the press requires that the corresponding rights to hear what is spoken and read what is written be preserved, free from fear of government intrusion, intimidation, or reprisal. The American Library Association reaffirms its opposition to "any use of government prerogatives which lead to the intimidation of the individual or the citizenry from the exercise of free expression. ..[and] encourages resistance to such abuse of government power. . ." (ALA Policy 53.4).

In seeking access or in the pursuit of information, confidentiality is the primary means of providing the privacy that will free the individual from fear of intimidation or retaliation. Libraries are one of the great bulwarks of democracy. They are living embodiments of the First Amendment because their collections include voices of dissent as well assent. Libraries are impartial resources providing information on all points of view, available to all persons regardless of age, race, religion, national origin, social or political views, economic status, or any other characteristic. The role of libraries as such a resource must not be compromised by an erosion of the privacy rights of Library users.

The American Library Association regularly receives reports of visits by agents of federal, state, and local law enforcement agencies to libraries, where it is alleged that they have asked for personally identifiable information about Library users. These visits, whether under the rubric of simply informing libraries of agency concerns of for some other reason, reflect an insensitivity to the legal and ethical bases for confidentiality, and the role it plays in the preservation of First Amendment rights, rights also extended to foreign nationals while in the United States. The government's interest in Library use reflects a dangerous and fallacious equation of what a person reads with what that person believes or how that person is likely to behave. Such a presumption can and does threaten the freedom of access to information. It also is a threat to a crucial aspect of First Amendment rights: that freedom of speech and of the press include the freedom to hold, disseminate and receive unpopular, minority, "extreme," or even "dangerous" ideas. The American Library Association recognizes that, under limited circumstances, access to certain information might be restricted due to a legitimate "national security" concern. However, there has been no showing of a plausible probability that national security will be compromised by any use made of unclassified information available in libraries. Thus, the right of access to this information by individuals, including foreign nationals, must be recognized as part of the librarian's legal and ethical responsibility to protect the confidentiality of the Library user.

The American Library Association also recognizes that law enforcement agencies and officers may occasionally believe that Library records contain information which would be helpful to the investigation of criminal activity. If there is a reasonable basis to believe such records are necessary to the progress of an investigation or prosecution, the American judicial system provides the mechanism for seeking release of such confidential records: the issuance of a court order, following a showing of good cause based on specific facts, by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Adopted July 2, 1991, by the ALA Council

Diversity in Collection Development: An Interpretation of the Library Bill of Rights

Throughout history, the focus of censorship has fluctuated from generation to generation. Books and other materials have not been selected or have been removed from Library collections for many reasons, among which are prejudicial language and ideas, political content, economic theory, social philosophies, religious beliefs, sexual forms of expression, and other topics of a potentially controversial nature.

Some examples of censorship may include removing or not selecting materials because they are considered by some as racist or sexist; not purchasing conservative religious materials; not selecting materials about or by minorities because it is thought these groups or interests are not represented in a community; or not providing information on or materials from non-mainstream political entities. Librarians may seek to increase user awareness of materials on various social concerns by many means, including, but not limited to, issuing bibliographies and presenting exhibits and programs. Librarians may seek to increase user awareness of materials on various social concerns by many means, including, but not limited to, issuing bibliographies and presenting exhibits and programs.

Librarians have a professional responsibility to be inclusive, not exclusive, in collection development and in the provision of Interlibrary loan. Access to all materials legally obtainable should be assured to the user, and policies should not unjustly exclude materials even if they are offensive to the librarian or the user. Collection development should reflect the philosophy inherent in Article II of the Library Bill of Rights: "Libraries should provide materials and be proscribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval." A balanced collection reflects a diversity of materials, not an equality of numbers. Collection development and the selection of materials should be done according to professional standards and established selection and review procedures. There are many complex facets to any issue, and variation of context in which issues may be expressed, discussed, or interpreted. Librarians have a professional responsibility to be fair, just and equitable and to give all Library users equal protection in guarding against violation of the Library patron's right to read, view, or listen to materials and resources protected by the First Amendment, no matter what the viewpoint of the author, creator, or selector. Librarians have an obligation to protect Library collections from removal of materials based on personal bias or prejudice, and to select and support the access to materials on all subjects that meet, as closely as possible, the needs and interests of all persons in the community which the Library serves. This includes materials that reflect political, economic, religious, social, minority, and sexual issues. Intellectual freedom, the essence of equitable Library services, provides for free access to all expressions of ideas through which any and all sides of a question, cause, or movement may be explored. Toleration is meaningless without tolerance for what some may consider detestable. Librarians cannot justly permit their own preferences to limit their degree of tolerance in collection development, because freedom is indivisible.

Adopted in July 14, 1982; amended January 10, 1990, by the ALA Council

Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library Computer Use Guidelines

Welcome to the Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library. The College encourages courteous use of all College facilities, including the Library resources and its computers. This acceptable use statement is designed to support an atmosphere conducive to academic freedom and intellectual pursuit, recognizing First Amendment rights and protected expression but acknowledging that an individual's freedom to access and display information is constrained by the rights of others.

The Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library (hereinafter Library) is an academic facility that also serves our community. Use of the Library and its computers is a privilege and not a right. Computers and Library facilities are intended primarily for research, educational and academic use. The Library computers are open access and available on a first-come, first-serve basis to students, staff, faculty and community members, subject to the following considerations and reservations:

All users must agree to comply with the guidelines established in this Evelyn and Howard Boroughs Library Computer Use Guidelines (hereinafter called Guidelines). Users of Library computers must register on PC Reservation in order to use the equipment. Registering on any Library computer through PC Reservation is to be considered acceptance of and agreement with these Guidelines.

The College is not responsible for the user's personal equipment nor is the College responsible for any intrusion by a user on another user's rights. Please remember that privacy and protection of personal information is not guaranteed and the history of use of any computer is not protected. Remember that these computers are used at the operator's own risk.

No Library computer may be used to violate any civil or criminal, state or federal law or any regulation or policy of Ventura College or the Ventura County Community College District (VCCCD). Such prohibited usage includes but is not limited to: any laws or regulations governing the creation, dissemination, viewing or displaying of obscene materials or other illegal documents or images; the possession or use of programs, files, or instructions for violating system security; and the violation of copyright and intellectual property laws.

Activities that might damage the computer equipment are strictly prohibited. Do not download any software to or make any modifications (including deleting applications or configurations) to the Library hardware.

Further, as the Colleges of the VCCCD are committed to the concept that all members of a college community must be able to study and work in an atmosphere of mutual respect and trust, users are reminded that Library resources may not be used to intimidate or create an atmosphere of harassment based on gender, race, religion, ethnic origin, creed, military service, or sexual orientation. Although the College does not want to become the arbiter of community values or to define what constitutes "offensive," the institution, through the Library staff, may determine that material viewed or received may be so defined if it is directed at individuals or groups and presents a hostile environment under federal and state laws. The institution retains the right to take restrictive actions if necessary. Once found to have violated any of these Guidelines, and depending on the severity of the violation(s), violators of these stipulations may face the following consequences:

- If the violation constitutes a criminal offence, law enforcement may be contacted, and/or the violator may be subjected to legal actions, including the imposition of fines and other penalties; and/or
- The violator may be subject to action under the VC Student Conduct Code or other disciplinary actions; and/or
- The violator may be subject to the current or future loss of or limitation of Library/computer use privileges.

Time limits of use may be established and enforced at the discretion of the Library staff, once posted. Academic use of computers by Ventura College students, faculty, staff, and administrators has priority over all other uses.

The Library librarians and staff are dedicated to providing our students, faculty, staff, and community with an environment that is conducive to learning and ask that you join our effort by following these guidelines in the use of our computers and facilities.

Thank you,
The Library Staff and Library Committee
