			The Construction Technology program prepares students for a wide-range of middle-skill construction related occupations including self-employed contractors, building inspectors, project designers, construction managers and project supervisors. In 2018-19, the program had 98% fill rate and received Silver Star recognition from the California Community Colleges Chancellor's Office for its exceptional outcomes in employment outcomes (74% of students attained the regional living wage and 54% reported increase in earnings).
			Since the full-time faculty member retired in spring 2017, the program has relied 100% on part-time faculty to teach courses. This negatively affects the success of the program and the students it serves. A full-time faculty member with content expert knowledge is needed to maintain program currency and expand partnerships with industry. Although the program has part-time faculty members who are experts in the field, all work full-time in the industry and cannot commit to leading the tasks of updating curriculum, student learning outcomes, and maintaining industry partnerships. For example, since the loss of the full-time faculty member, there has been a significant decline in the number of students participating in internship courses (CT V95 and CT V96). In 2015-2016, 34 students enrolled in CT V95 and CT V96, as compared to eight students in 2017-18, and no students in 2018-19 or fall 2019.
AA	Career Education	CAR1802	Labor market data from the Centers of Excellence show a significant supply gap (i.e., gap between annual job openings and number of degree/certificate awards) in construction occupations in our region. None of the colleges in the South Central Coast region match the depth and breadth of Ventura College's construction program. Ventura College is also one of the few state approved schools for electricians. We are a State approved partial provider of the Electrician Certification Curriculum. There are opportunities to increase enrollment and productivity by offering fully online courses and repackaging existing courses to create stackable certificates, as well as developing a shared degree program with our sister colleges. A full-time faculty member is needed to lead this effort.	120,000 (salary and benefits)	2018-2019, 2017-2018	1	1	2	2 3 class of Elementary education majors), and that our objective now is to continue to grow the number of students completing child development and education classes/certificates/degrees while also creating a pipeline for liberal arts students graduating with a focus on education, we are currently understaffed. We are being responsive to the local needs of CSUCI and our community in expanding our EDU offerings, we are being responsive to the requests to help build programming at VC East Campus as well as Santa Paula High School and we are excited and eager to support our community, but will be unable to sustain our current achievments without proper staffing.

			We have one faculty member that will be moving and another that has told us this will be her last year.
			Although we have hired part time faculty, these are really replacement positions of others that have moved on. To be able to sustain the growth we've accomplished and continue to grow to meet our college and community's requests, we need to be able to hire an additional full-time faculty member.
			Moreover, we are being asked by the state and the region to create pathways and pipelines for students because the workforce has a current 30,000 teacher gap in California which is anticipated to increase to 100,000 within the next few years. We are being responsive to our workforce as well as regional and state initiatives with increasing courses and pipelines to teaching at all levels. We will be less able to fulfill this need without additional faculty.
			The two full time faculty members have for the last 7 semesters had to work overload hours to staff all classes. Although we have hired part time faculty, we have also had failed searches because of the MQs not being met, he pool of qualified candidates is always very small. Even those we are able to hire end up being replacement positions instead of alleviating the overload burden because of natural attrition. We would ideally like to fill this position with someone that is able to teach EDU and CD classes because we are losing one of our EDU faculty and need a person who is available during the day. This semester (fall 2019) 30% of the courses are being taught by the two full time faculty members who are also the co-chairs of the department and most of the part time faculty are at maximum load that they will accept. If the full time faculty had not taken the overloads, they would account for less than 25% of the classes being taught. We have only been able to maintain this pace			1

			Increase student success and campus productivity by offering more sections of all the accounting classes which currently are to capacity. A minimum of 3 accounting classes are required to complete the ADT degree in Business, and one or more are required for our most popular degrees and certificates from the Business Department.
			None of the 14 accounting courses were taught by a FT instructor in Fall 19. In Spring 19, 28% of accounting courses were taught by a FT instructor. Very few students are exposed to a FT accounting instructor while at Ventura College.
			Accounting typically generates some of the highest productivity on campus, generating 640 in Fall 19 and 695 in Spring 19. We have a great deal of unmet student demand for courses.
			In the past 5 months, the department had one failed FT accounting search and one failed PT accounting search. The Fall 19 accounting students were subjected to significant modifications to adjust for under-staffing: three full classes were cancelled, one full class was moved to a late start, one full class had to change meeting hours to accommodate an instructor, and one class had to be moved to hybrid due to staffing shortages. In addition, one instructor quit within 48 hours of the start of the class, resulting in the class being taught by temporary subs to avoid cancellation. It is extremely difficult to find candidates that meet the stated accounting minimum qualifications to accept either PT or FT positions.
			It is essential that we support the accounting program with more than one FT position. The department is critical to the success of the ADT Business degree and the majority of business certificates. We have been unsuccessful attracting and retaining qualified PT faculty to fill over 70% of our courses. Funding only one FT faculty creates undue strain and unnecessary risk to an integral part of the campus.
			We can increase student equity by giving more students access to full time faculty who are required

			: Hire full time Criminal Justice Faculty for a position that retired at the end of 2017. Since the retirement of this position two years ago, student success rates dropped 7% percent overall. This drop demonstrates that a high reliance on part-time faculty in a department/program has a negative effect on the success of the department/program and the students it serves. In Spring 2020, 60% percent of all Criminal Justice courses will be taught by adjunct instructors.
			At the same time, enrollment rates have increased. In order to stop further decline in success rates and expanding demand for CJ courses, a full time hiring is needed. The division has utilized adjuncts to maintain classes offered during this period, but the continuity of instruction varies which adversely impacts overall student success in criminal justice. An additional full time faculty position would provide consistency in teaching pedagogy, as well as increase student contact on campus for students needing assistance and organizing student activities on campus. If not filled, there will only be two full-

			Our goal is to align 12 courses to the OEI Rubric in 2019. Compensate faculty for the approx. 40 hours of work to align their courses and compensate faculty to become Peer Online Course Reviewers. This course also takes approx. 40 hours and qualifies them to mentor the faculty who are aligning their course(s) with the OEI Rubric. We are required to get 20% of our courses aligned to maintain membership in the CVC OEI Consortium. Currently we only have 5 instructors who have aligned one or more of their courses. We need a minimum of 30 courses aligned to meet the requirement set by the OEI. Without compensation there is little incentive for faculty to do the additional work to align their course(s). Courses that are OEI aligned demonstrate greater success and a reduction in the equity gap. This request should be considered for Student Success and Equity Funds and/or Guided Pathways funding as it is demonstrated to assist meeting those goals.
			A suggested incentive is to pay faculty as Professional Experts $200 to start a course and $1000 to successfully complete it. Once we are certified as a Peer Online Course Review College we need to pay faculty to review the courses of their peers working on alignment. We suggest $300 for each course reviewed. This is a cost of $1500 per course to align. If we fail to make progress toward our 20% requirement, we risk losing the OEI provided LMS and all of the support software. This is a small price
